

Seen in the Grange Kitchen – February 2012

Most of Perry Valley Grange's income to maintain its property and carry out its many community service projects comes through the serving of banquets, receptions and public dinners. This is a great deal of hard work but also provides good fellowship for our members and friends who help.

Come on now! Making pie crust for upcoming banquets is not really that bad! So what if your fingers are messy, Doug?

Making Those Valentine Gala Homemade Candies & Cake Rolls

An old Pennsylvania Dutch custom says that eating pork & sauerkraut on New Year's Day will insure good luck throughout the coming year. If that's the case, then the 300+ people who ate at the Grange on January 1st should have a great 2012. This was the biggest crowd ever at the New Year's Dinner. It was a "sell-out" and, unfortunately, some folks had to be turned away. Profits of just over $1,500 were realized from each event. Thanks to all who helped and/or contributed.

The 9th annual Valentine's Gala in February was very festive and financially successful for the Grange. Some 170 guests enjoyed the 4-course Seafood & Sirloin Dinner, musical entertainment by "Musically Yours" and many lucky guests received a door prize of candy, pies, wine or other goodies to take home.
